Flavoring Extracts

One of our customers asked us the other day why there was so much difference between the extracts she bought from us and those she got elsewhere. We explained that it was because a druggist is qualified to test extracts. He knows when they are up to the standard. It is a part of his training to know. In the second place, we fortify our knowledge of everything we sell by selling only the best. We will not sell an extract that is not absolutely pure and full of strength. That is why the extracts you buy here go further and give more delicious results.

DRINK TO ME ONLY WITH THINE EYES.

Drink to me only with thine eyes, and I will pledge with mine, Or leave a kiss within the cup, and I'll not ask for wine; The thirst that from the soul doth rise, doth ask a drink divine, But might I of Jove's nectar sip, I would not change for thine.

I sent the late a rosy wreath, Not so much honoring thee, As giving it a hope that there it could not withered be; But thou thereon didst only breathe, and send'st it back to me, Since when it grows and smells, I swear, not of itself, but thee.

—Ben Jonson.

Like the German Note. Charles M. Schwab was talking about Germany's second note.

"Germany," he said, "appeared to be lavishing blandishments on us for a month, she seemed to be soft-savering us a month; we were on the point of protesting that she was really too kind—and all the while she had this dreadful note up her sleeves."

"It reminds me of the crusty bachelor who said to the wall flower at the ball:

"Miss Smith, you are pretty—"

"Sir!"

"I was just going to say that you are pretty—"

"Really, sir, your over-frank, your too-outspoken compli—"

"I mean you are pretty—"

"But this is so sudden?"

"What I am trying to say, hang it, ma'am, is that you're pretty near my own age, ain't you?"

MUCH DUST ON ROAD

Autoists Report Hard Traveling Near Lincolnton.

Persons who have traveled on the highway from Lincolnton to Charlotte by way of Lowesville report the just so deep that automobiles are compelled to stop when passing each other in order not to be enveloped in dust, which is reported as blinding. Mr. J. M. Stephens, who went over the highway yesterday, said today that the dust had accumulated to a depth of at least six inches. For four miles out of town a new coating has been added to the sand-clay, and heavy traffic has ground it into fine powders. The other roads in that section, Mr. Stephens said, were good.

Lincolnton is putting down bituminous paving, is putting on a white wash and otherwise is showing activity of a wholesome sort, Mr. Stephens said.

FOR GOVERNOR JARVIS

Memorial Services Held in Greenville

For Grand Old Man.

Greenville, N. C., Sept. 23.—Judge Bond adjourned court yesterday for the afternoon, giving way to memorial exercises in honor of the late Governor Jarvis. Judge Bond presided. Rev. Mr. Daniel, pastor of the Methodist church, offered prayer, Congressman John H. Small was the first speaker and was followed by L. I. Moore, H. S. Ward, Harry Skinner, President Wright of the Training School and others.

Letters of regret were read from justices of supreme court, state officials and others. About 300 Training School girls were present, also a large number of citizens and visitors.

The Jarvis Memorial Association, for the purpose of erecting a monument to memory of Governor Jarvis, was named with D. M. Clark, F. C. Harding and President Wright as committee for organization. Judge Bond made closing address.

A Pity.

High on the roof of a four-wheeler was piled most miscellaneous collection of luggage. Savagely the cabman had toiled at his task, but it was ended at last. Then a jaded little woman came out of the house and eyed her cheerishing belongings before entering the vehicle.

"See, you've got everything, ma'am?" asked the cabby, with sarcastic politeness.

"Yes, that's all," was the reply.

The cabman glanced back at the house as he remarked: "Seems a pity, don't it, to leave the doorstep?"

—Liverpool Mercury.

"And can you always make good promises?" asked the mere man. The great political leader smiled. "A promise, my dear fellow, is never wasted," he replied. "When it becomes damaged I simply polish it up and use it over again."

Heard at the Hay Baler.

"A good laugh is sunshine in the home," remarked the proverb dispenser. "Yes," rejoined the hopeless idiot, "but at that it isn't as stable as a horse laugh. What?"

LUTZ'S
"ON THE CORNER"

LIBRARY RECEPTION TO BE HELD TONIGHT

This is the night of the reception given by the officers and directors of the Hickory Free Library Association, and it is hoped that every person in Hickory will visit the library rooms for at least a few minutes anyway. As has been stated before in these columns, the object of the reception is to arouse interest in the library, and enlist additional support in making it more in keeping with Hickory's grand development.

The flagging interest in the library, it is said, is due to the fact that no new books have been received for a long time, and the reading public has about covered all the books on the shelves. For this reason, all who can are requested to bring a book, so that some new books will be available to add interest to the library until such time as additional funds may be secured to get a better supply. But if you cannot conveniently bring a book, come without one, and help the management by showing your interest in the matter.

Remember the date—tonight, from 7 to 10 o'clock.

Sanitary Precautions. "Hey, Mokie, and phwat do ye tink of these new sanitary drinking cups?" "Sure, Pat, and soon we'll have to spit on our hands wid an eye-opener!" —Gargoyle.

"I'm not going to that female barber shop again; there's a rude girl there, don't you know?"

"What did she say?"

"Why, she looked at my mustawch and awsked me if I would have it sponged off or rubbed in."—Christian Register.

House Burns.

The residence occupied by Mr. George Crafton was destroyed by fire in Brookford Tuesday night, and the damage was estimated at $400. All the furniture was removed, but a keg of pickles was not got out in time.

True Courage.

"I understand that Mr. Grabwell started in life by borrowing $50. You must admire a man with courage like that." "No, I don't," replied Mr. Growcher. "The man I admire is the one who had the courage to lend him the fifty."

"Well, Dinah, I hear you are married."

"Yassum," said the former cook.

"I've done got me a man now."

"Is he a good provider?"

"Yassum. He's a mighty good provider, but I've powerful skeered he's gwine ter git kotched at it."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

You will never regret the day you have entered your child's name on the roll-call book of a kindergarten. Anyone who is interested in sending his child to the kindergarten will kindly telephone 28-J, or call at 1205 13th St. 9-23-19vk.
